

The Words & Music of John Lennon's Glasses

A one-of-a-kind live-music infused readers theater performance and introduction to Jim & Kathy Ocean's rock 'n' roll fantasy novel

When Words Sing and Music Tells a Story

Bringing the Novel to Life

For Beatles fans who've ever wondered what if Lennon's story wasn't over—this one's for you. With a blend of live music and interpretive readings, The Words and Music of "John Lennon's Glasses" brings Jim and Kathy Ocean's rock 'n' roll fantasy novel to life. Imagine that!

In the novel, a down-and-out songwriter receives a pair of mysterious glasses that conjure John Lennon from the afterlife. Together, they embark on a surreal journey across America and into the cosmos, confronting a force that threatens to silence music forever, all while confronting demons of their own.

The performance weaves excerpts from the novel with a few Beatles classics and the Ocean's original songs (which factor in the story's plot). Custom-made for those who love imaginative fiction, road-trip adventures, cultural satire, and rock 'n' roll history, this program showcases the transformative power of music and what's possible when art breaks boundaries.

Step into a world where music transcends time and space—and where a pair of glasses can change everything.
